GREAT FLANKING MOVEMENT PRECIPITATES GREAT BATTLE

(By International News Service.)

PARIS, Oct. 7.—A battle precipitated by the flanking movements of the allies and the counter flanking movements of the Germans on the eastern front is raging with great violence according to an official statement this afternoon. This states the opposing battle lines have extended into the region of Lens, which is ten miles beyond Arras and the same distance northwest of Douai. While the official statement does not state the French are gaining ground, the prolonging of the battle lines beyond Arras and Douai indicates they are making an advance. Large forces of cavalry are now engaged in conflict and their operations have served to extend the line.

The battle line also reaches the vicinity of Labassee about 17 miles north of Arras and a few miles from Lille.

"On our left wing the battle continues at a great pace," the statement reads. "The opposing fronts have extended even into the region of Lens la Bassée, prolonged by masses of cavalry which in contact even to the region of Arras. $16,480 IN GOLD PAID TO SETTLE AN OLD LAWSUIT

By the payment of $16,480 in twenty dollar gold pieces yesterday at Goldfield the last vestige of litigation against the Round Mountain Mining company was wiped out and the troubled career of this corporation made ready for a period of the greatest activity. The case in point was that of the Round Mountain Sphinx Mining company against the Round Mountain Mining company, the granddaddy of them all, and the first company to demonstrate the auriferous resources of that valley which came as a legacy with the settlement of the apex litigation through a bill for services rendered by P. P. Carney and Detch & Carney as legal advisers of the Sphinx company. To secure this implied obligation the Round Mountain company in reorganizing to absorb the Sphinx, set aside 30,000 shares of stock to meet any verdict that might be rendered against the Sphinx. This was not adequate to liquidate the judgment and as an attachment had been issued against the entire Round Mountain holdings it was decided to wipe off the slate and make a clean start with the new company free from all entanglements. William Forman was attorney for the Sphinx.

Carney had attached 175,000 shares to secure his judgment and the collateral had been advertised for sale in front of the courthouse when Attorney William Forman and Thomas T. Lynch, of Tonopah, arrived. These gentlemen learned that nothing had been done to secure payment in compliance with the promise of J. P. Sweeney they persuaded Carney to postpone the sale until they could see Sweeney and arrange for the liquidation of the judgment. This was all that prevented a forced sale of the collateral.

CASES SET BEFORE THE FEDERAL COURT

While there are many cases pending in the federal court, but few attorneys appear to care to have them come to a speedy trial. This is evident from the fact that but one case was actually set for trial at the calling of the calendar yesterday, while several other dates were fixed by the court for the hearing of motions. The case of the Sierra Land and Livestock company against the Desert Power company will be heard on November 16. This is the case wherein the plaintiff company lost approximately 2,000 sheep, which succumbed from quenching their thirst in tailing ponds near Millers.—Carson Appeal.

I. W. W. ARRESTED FOR MEETING ON STREET AT NIGHT

H. E. McGucken, Al Williams and Oscar Ruf, a cook, were arrested last night on Main street for disturbing the peace by singing I. W. W. songs. McGucken was first to be taken off the stand, but his place was taken at once by Williams, who began another ballad. When the latter was arrested the officers were told there was no shortage of talent and that plenty of speakers and singers were in reserve. Responding to this Chief of Police Evans retorted that he had a pretty big building at his disposal and one which he thought would accommodate the entire membership of the I. W. W.s, if necessary.

Ruf was the only man to defy the officers by attempting a speech and then the crowd drew back, realizing that business was meant this time.

The mass meeting is the first pulled off since the shooting of White by Panener and was foreshadowed by a threat from the organizers that they would like to see the officers interfere. Their wish was gratified. On the advice of counsel the prisoners elected trial by jury and at 3 o'clock this afternoon an effort is being made to empanel a jury.

The remains of the late Charles T. Hill, a member of Miners' Lodge, Knights of Pythias of Tonopah, were shipped this morning by express to his aunt, Mrs. Margaret Lynch, for interment in Holy Cross cemetery, San Mateo. The order was wired to Undertaker Cavanaugh last evening after arrangements had been made to hold funeral services this afternoon. The time was too short to notify the friends of deceased of the change in the programme, so no services were held this morning.

Tonopah K. P. had ordered a splendid floral emblem from the coast, but last night rustled around and succeeded in procuring a small substitute piece in the shape of a triangle. The employees of the Mary mine sent a costly broken wheel surmounted by a dove bearing white ribbons in its beak.

EXPECT THE DEATH OF U. S. TROOPER ON THE BORDER

(By Associated Press.)

NACAO, Oct. 7.—The Mexican border guard near Monument No. 92, where Trooper Bradford was shot by a Mexican bullet yesterday, was doubled today. Carranza troops, commanded by Hill, were entangled fifty feet from the border apparently as a protection from attacks from United States troops which they seem to anticipate.

The situation is becoming delicate, and may be brought to a crisis by the death of Trooper Wilson, shot Sunday night, who is in a serious condition at Fort Huachuca. Maytorena, commanding the Villa forces, said word that there would be no further attack on Hill pending the conference at Aguascalientes, but the Carranzistas show indications of taking the offensive and may precipitate interference by the American cavalry.

Later Hill took the offensive with the Carranzistas. He sent out skirmishers east of Nacao in Sonora. After hot skirmishes the Carranzistas returned to their trench.

Among the Elks aboard who officiated were: David S. Ross, of New Rochelle, N. Y.; Elwood Miles, of Portland; E. S. Moorehead, of Fresno; G. A. Stewart, of Portland, and Wm. S. NEWLANDS INJECTED INTO IRRIGATION

Hon. George H. Maxwell, managing director of the Pittsburg Flood Commission and the Louisiana Reclamation Association, gave a short talk on reclamation at the Rink hall, Yerington, yesterday forenoon. Quite a little crowd of people assembled to listen to him and paid strict attention to his remarks until he injected Newlands into his remarks too frequently to suit most of the audience, and Mr. George H. Plummer arose and asked if the address was a political talk or for the purpose of telling the farmers how to get government aid for water storage as had been announced previous to the meeting. Mr. Maxwell denied trying to inject any politics into the meeting but, nevertheless, the audience began to dwindle, and as it was past the noon hour the meeting soon broke up.—Yerington Times.

GERMANS SUPERIOR IN EVERY RESPECT TO THEIR ENEMIES

LONDON, Oct. 7.—British military experts declared today the human equation must soon enter strongly into the conflict between the Germans and the allies in France. Allowing for the valuable discipline of the German troops and their strong positions, English military men believe exhaustion will tell in the end and the British-French troops, being fresher, better fed and under less strain, will force general retreat of the invaders. In Belgium the Germans practically are masters and it is believed here the surrender of Antwerp is only a matter of a short time. The German siege guns evidently are within range of the city proper and it is admitted there are no fortifications strong enough to resist these mighty cannon.

Although the Russian general staff has been ceaseless in its claims for victories over the Germans and Austrians, the view of impartial observers is that German strategy there is equal, if not superior, to Russian strategy. Man to man, the Germans are better fighters than the Russians, although the Muscovites are in a position to put more men in the field. This is the sixty-fourth day of the war in Europe and the end is not in sight yet. In fact, to sum it all up, it seems the warring nations are just beginning the fight in earnest.
